GOP Pros Bank On Ike To Help Stop Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncommitted party leaders appear to be banking on Dwight D. Eisenhower to touch off stop-Goldwater efforts at the Republican presidential nominating convention.

The former president publicly has remained aloof from the maneuvering in the pre-convention period in which Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has forged well ahead in the contest for convention votes.

Eisenhower has endorsed practically everybody who has been mentioned prominently for the nomination, and some who haven't. His blanket blessing has covered Goldwater as well as his opponents.

But party pros who haven't committed themselves to support of any individual candidate have formed the strong impression that Eisenhower will abandon his stated neutrality if he fears Goldwater otherwise might win the nomination and pocket the party organization for the next four years.

Eisenhower has provided plenty of evidence he believes the Republicans can win only if they present a moderately progressive program. He clearly fears that a conservative stance would bring defeat in November and a party split in the years ahead.

If the Republicans who want to stop Goldwater could agree among themselves on a candidate, they would be content for Eisenhower to fill at the convention his contractual role as a television commentator and ask nothing more of him.

With less than three months remaining before the convention opens, the uncommitted pros generally agree the field of potential Goldwater challengers has narrowed to Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to Viet Nam, former Vice President M. Nixon and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

They apparently feel that New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has dropped behind in his drive for the nomination.

There is some skepticism about how long the popularity being shown in the polls by Lodge will last.

Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential nominee, has no political base, having moved from California to New York. He may turn up with only a handful, if any, convention votes.

Scranton will be Pennsylvania's favorite son. But the feeling is that he has put handcuffs on any real pre-convention drive to move him into contention.

Given circumstances of this sort, the pros think that delegations and individuals will be coming around to discuss the situation with Eisenhower to learn what he thinks.

A signal from the former president that he preferred any one of these three men would start a convention bonfire. If he chose someone else, it would be more difficult to get the flames going but still this might be accomplished.

Stunting Hinted in Air Mishap

LOUDBONVILLE, Ohio (AP)—"It was swooping down, then pulling up," in what looked like stunts, a farmer said of the single-engine plane that crashed into nearby Pleasant Hill Lake Wednesday.

"It didn't sound like there was anything wrong with the motor," added Clarence Stoner of the accident that killed a passenger while the student flier survived—rescued by fishermen.

The pilot, William G. Bowden, 32, of Mount Vernon, was taken to Mercy Hospital in Mount Vernon for treatment of abrasions and shock.

His companion, Mrs. Venus Estep McCray, 25, a Mount Vernon sandwich shop employee formerly of Lancaster, was found dead after hours of dragging efforts. She was believed drowned, but her body was taken to Cleveland for an autopsy. She leaves her husband, Jack McCray of Lancaster, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Barker of Lancaster.

The woman's body was removed from 30 feet of water, some 50 feet from where the two-seater Luscombe plane—also recovered—plunged into the lake in southern Ashland County.

Bowden had taken off from Mount Vernon and planned to land at an airstrip by the lake. Instead, it circled around and finally plunged into the water 200 yards from shore. The four fishermen who witnessed the crash were friends of Bowden, and it was two of them who rescued him as the plane sank.

Court News Reporting Curbs Claimed in Demand

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's editors were told today there is "cause for great concern" in the rising clamor in legal circles for tighter curbs on news reporting of the courts.

The Committee on Freedom of Information of the American Society of Newspaper Editors warned that the proposed restrictions, "although aimed primarily at television," could damage all news coverage.

The committee headed by Creed C. Black, executive editor of the Wilmington (Del.) Morning News and Evening Journal prepared the report for today's opening session of ASNE's three-day annual convention.

The nearly 500 editors registered for the meeting were invited as guests at President

Johnson's late afternoon news conference in the large State Department auditorium.

The freedom of information report attributed the restrictive proposals by legal groups partly to the "tragic and turbulent events at Dallas"—the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, the televised murder of Lee Harvey Oswald and the hectic trial that convicted Jack Ruby as Oswald's murderer.

"Of more lasting concern to us is a broader—and relatively new—element in this perennial controversy which deserves no less attention from us than it is getting from the bench and bar," Creed's committee said.

"That is the extent to which television is complicating matters for all media."

The committee noted that the New York County Lawyers' Association has declared that the "special visual impact" of television makes new measures necessary to protect the right of accused persons to a fair trial. The lawyers said they were convinced that "any reliance on voluntary restraints by the television industry are largely doomed to failure."

The emphasis on television "is not to suggest that the newspapers of America are blameless," the editors' report went on.

It said: "Indeed, the necessity to re-examine our own shortcomings and rid our own house of irresponsibility becomes all the more urgent if we are to head off measures which—although aimed primarily at television—could affect us all and invite greater abuses in the administration of justice than those they supposedly are designed to correct."

"If developing smaller television cameras is beyond our control, we can certainly try, by our own example, to teach the electronic newsmen larger manners and a deeper understanding of the basic truth that freedom of information is not an unlimited license to trample on individual rights."

Greek King Sets His Wedding Date

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—King Constantine announced today that he will marry Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark on Sept. 18.

The 23-year-old monarch, who succeeded to the throne March 6 on the death of his father, King Paul, told a news conference the wedding would take place in Athens. It will follow a six-month mourning period for Paul.

Anne-Marie will be 18 on Aug. 30.

Constantine and the Danish princess have been engaged since January 1963 and before his father's death planned to marry next January. But with his accession to the throne and because of his youth, court circles felt a royal wedding would strengthen his position.

Prisoner's Help Offer Turns Out To Be Hoax

CALHOUN, Ga. (AP)—When the wife of Sheriff Hughdon Davis opened the jail's bullpen to admit a drunk Tuesday night, a prisoner ran out.

A second followed saying, "I'll get him for you." He didn't, but he caught up with him.

Both were captured in a field near here Wednesday.

Viet Nam Reds Massing Anew

Another Assault On Delta Awaited

KIEN LONG, South Viet Nam (AP)—Communist units were reported massing in the Mekong River delta countryside today for another assault on the district capital of Kien Long.

Two airborne government companies took up positions within the perimeter of the town which the Communists mauled last Sunday. Reinforcements poured into the civil guard outpost that successfully withstood the assault.

Townpeople demanded to be taken to safer areas. Scores of peasants were pouring in from the countryside of the Ca Mau peninsula, the southern tip of Viet Nam.

The only American in Kien Long, an adviser with the airborne troops, said intelligence sources reported the Viet Cong wanted to overrun the town again because they failed to demolish the civil guard post Sunday.

After the attack, the government rushed in reinforcements. The Viet Cong battled them for three days instead of melting away into the countryside, their usual practice.

American sources said nearly 100 government soldiers were killed or wounded, the heaviest toll of a single engagement in the war. They said civilian casualties might exceed 200. At least believed many casualties were carried off.

In Kien Long the Communists killed and mutilated the district chief, his wife and child, and killed or wounded a number of other government officials and sympathizers.

German News Unit Ousted From Soviet

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today ordered the closing of the Moscow office of the West German news agency DPA, which on Monday circulated a false report that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had died.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the action was ordered by the Foreign Ministry.

In a Russian-language transmission, Tass said the order was issued because the agency, Deutsche Presse Agentur, has been "spreading provocative and false reports concerning the U.S.S.R."

The agency's Moscow correspondent, whose name was given only as Wurzel, "has been asked to leave the Soviet Union within 24 hours," Tass said.

The Tass announcement made no mention of DPA's erroneous report about Khrushchev. DPA withdrew the report 23 minutes after its first flash and on Tuesday apologized for it. The agency said it was making a full investigation and had suspended all staff members connected with the affair. It said all were members of its head office in Hamburg.

Cuban Youth Said To Fear Draft

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—One of 28 youths fleeing Cuba to evade the military draft, which also serves as a labor pool, says "there is panic among young men" because of it.

The exile, Angel Robaina, 18, said Wednesday he had escaped from a stadium in Oriente Province where 900 draft youths were concentrated.

Robaina was one of 48 refugees arriving in three boats Wednesday.

Last weekend 28 other youths who didn't want to be drafted arrived by boat.

The Castro government has said draftees will be used to harvest sugar cane and other crops.

Johnson Spurs Rail Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bargaining talks aimed at averting a nationwide railroad strike were spurred on today by President Johnson's implied shorter deadline for a voluntary settlement.

"We should know definitely, not later than next Monday, whether the parties to this dispute will settle it by the process of bargaining and by responsible reason," Johnson said Wednesday.

"The country expects that answer to be yes," Johnson said after conferring privately with federal mediators and negotiators for five unions and nearly 200 railroads.

Johnson did not say what he might do if the talks fail, but he would have no power to halt a scheduled strike April 25 unless he asked Congress for special legislation.

The five-year dispute over wages, job classifications and working conditions had exhausted all provisions of federal law when Johnson won a 15-day strike postponement last Friday and set up the emergency bargaining talks.

"There is no settlement yet," Johnson said Wednesday on the sixth day of the talks, "and there can be no settlement until all issues are disposed of."

His reference to a definite decision by Monday was the first official indication that he will not let the entire 15-day postponement elapse without considering other steps.

"So far, there's been no threat of legislation," said George Reedy, White House press secretary.

"The principal question," Johnson said, "is whether these bargainers can, in 15 days, get over four years of the idea of somebody else settling their disagreements for them. I hope they can. I think they can."

He asked for another "definitive" report on the talks by this weekend.

THE PICKAWAY County Garden Club is the proud recipient of a regional prize, awarded for the organization's outstanding floral decoration project in front of the local Courthouse.

The award, amounting to $200, was presented by the Sears Co. Announcement of the regional selection was made this week at a state meeting of Garden Clubs of Ohio, held in Cincinnati.

Mrs. G. Guy Campbell, W. Franklin St., served as the Pickaway Club's civic committee chairman. The project amounted to beautifying the circle and old water fountain at the Courthouse with flowers, shrubs and the like.

A SIGH of relief was nearly audible before midnight yesterday as some Roundtowners joined others across the nation in getting their 1963 personal income tax returns postmarked before the midnight deadline. Coincidentally, at least two of these same persons, about 15 days ago, were putting their '64 auto license tags on their cars about the same time—before the midnight Mar 31 deadline.

Jerrie Mock Due Friday In Columbus

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Jerrie Mock was to wing her way here today from Oakland, Calif., on the last 2,800 miles of her attempt to be the first woman to fly solo around the world.

"It was about time a woman did it," she declared as she headed for home in Columbus, Ohio.

The 38-year-old mother of three needed only to fly the 1,200 miles from Oakland to El Paso and then the final 1,650 miles to Columbus where she is expected Friday.

She has flown more than 20,000 miles east to west over both major oceans and three continents—singing operatic arias to relieve the loneliness.

After the 2,400-mile flight from Honolulu to Oakland in 17 hours and 39 minutes Wednesday Mrs. Mock stepped out of her red-and-white Cessna 180 into the arms of her husband, Russell, 39, a copy supervisor in an advertising agency.

"She'd rather have a double shot of Scotch right now," confided her husband as he handed her two orchids instead.

About six hours later, Mrs. Mock sat on a bed in an Oakland hotel room, sipped her Scotch and told of her loneliness in flight.

"I couldn't even get any good music on the plane's radio," she said. "So I sang opera. I'm not a very good singer."

On her current flight the 5-foot, 107-pound aviatrix became the first woman ever to fly solo across the Atlantic Ocean to Africa and the only woman ever to pilot a single-engine plane across the Pacific.

"This is something men do all the time," said Mrs. Mock, evaluating her flight. "It was about time a woman did it."

Her husband told of the crowd expected to greet Mrs. Mock when she returns to Columbus either Friday or Saturday.

"The homecoming will be when I decide," interrupted Mrs. Mock, indicating she's in no particular rush.

"I'm just a housewife," she said. "I get tired of washing dishes and ironing clothes."

"Maybe I'll want to get out of the house again and take another flight. But this time with my husband in a bigger plane."

"And, about this trip I'm going to write a book—'How to Fly Around the World and See Nothing,'" said Mrs. Mock.

"She just may do that," said her husband.

DARWIN, Australia (AP)—Joan Merriam arrived in Darwin tonight after flying solo more than halfway around the world along the route of the late Amelia Earhart.

The Long Beach, Calif., flier brought her twin-engine plane down after a 1,500-mile flight from Surabaya, Indonesia, and Timor. She left Oakland, Calif., March 17. She flies on Friday to New Guinea.

Jerrie Never Worried About Ability or Plane

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Jerrie Mock, 38-year-old Columbus, Ohio, housewife took off from Port Columbus March 19, striving to become the first woman to complete a solo flight around the world. She is expected to complete that flight, depending upon weather conditions, sometime Friday. Following is her own story told after arrival Thursday in Oakland, Calif.

By JERRIE MOCK

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—It is so good to be home.

Every returning traveler says that, I know, and I've said it often, but it has never been so true. All I want now is to sleep until I wake up, then fly on to Columbus and see my boys and my little girl.

It's true, as I told the newsmen at the airport yesterday, that this flight really started as a joke when I told my husband I was bored and he suggested I go someplace—like around the world.

It stopped being a joke the minute I found out no woman had done it. I decided I could—and I did.

Traveling so far so fast, I have a whole jumble of impressions that I want to sit down and sort out when I have time. Many of them are a story in themselves.

They asked me when I really felt I had it made. I guess it was somewhere around Guam. That's where the U. S. fliers met me and flew cover for me on the way in and where they had a general, an admiral and a band out to meet me.

I guess being back on American soil boosted my confidence too.

The newsmen always asked if I was worried about my plane or my own ability. Really, I wasn't. We took a long time

Civil Rights Say Cleveland Feels Boycott

CLEVELAND (AP)—A civil rights leader says a "don't buy" campaign against two downtown department stores seems to have produced some results in the business community.

The leader, Harold B. Williams, said Wednesday at a news conference that he was pleased "the business community has begun to make some move to involve itself" in the city's civil rights battle.

Williams, a coordinator of the United Freedom Movement, said he did not know which business leaders were making the move. He said he understood there have been a number of meetings to look for alternatives in the school integration dispute and new business leadership is emerging.

The UFM, a federation of civil rights groups, Tuesday began picketing peacefully at the May Co. and the Higbee Co., two major department stores. UFM leaders also have urged a boycott against the Cleveland Press, which, they say, helped break a two-week moratorium on new school construction in predominantly Negro neighborhoods. Civil rights leaders say the new schools will lead to "re-segregation" of pupils.

The campaign is aimed at awakening the conscience of the business community, said Williams. He called the picketing "very successful, according to my inside information." Store officials have declined comment.

Williams also announced more than 50 "freedom schools" have been set up so far for pupils expected to participate in a planned boycott of the city's public schools Monday.

The schools, located mainly in churches on the east side, will be taught by white and Negro teachers. They will emphasize materials on Negro history that have been used in school boycotts in Boston, Chicago, and New York. Williams estimated the UFM will spend about $3,500 on the freedom schools.

He said Dick Gregory, Negro comedian, has agreed to come here Friday night for a rally for high school pupils. Three others weekend rallies are planned to urge support for the boycott and freedom schools, Williams said.

In other developments, some 234 Negro civil and political leaders are to meet tonight in an effort to find a solution to Cleveland's racial problems. A meeting of white and Negro community leaders is scheduled for Sunday.

M. Morris Jackson, freshman Negro councilman and a Democrat, Wednesday urged a mass resignation of the seven-member Cleveland Board of Education as the first step in solving the school integration controversy. He told a City Council meeting that he thought a new school board could be elected or appointed to bring the system back to community standards.

Scientist Reports Space Technology Is Perfected

CINCINNATI (AP)—The conquest of the solar system is becoming a matter of what man wants to do, rather than what he can do, a top official of the nation's space program says. "We've reached the state in our space program—in fact in all our science and technology—where we can do many things we may not want to do," Dr. Raymond L. Bisplinghoff said Wednesday in an interview.

Just how far we go is up to congress and the voters, he added.

Dr. Bisplinghoff, associate administrator for advanced research and technology at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), was here to speak at his alma mater, the University of Cincinnati.

Men may reach the moon before the end of this decade, Dr. Bisplinghoff said in his UC Day speech. One forerunner of the lunar expeditions involves the Saturn V space booster and the Apollo three-man spacecraft.

"The Saturn V space booster is a three-stage device, the first stage of which will lift six million pounds from the earth's surface at Cape Kennedy at a speed of 6,000 miles per hour," he said. "Each of the five engines of the first stage has a thrust of 1.5 million pounds and consumes three tons of fuel and oxygen per second."

"At 6,000 miles per hour the five engines of the first stage drop off and fall into the ocean this side of Africa. The second stage takes over and speeds the vehicle to 15,000 miles per hour at which the second-stage engines drop into the Pacific between Africa and Australia."

"The third stage injects the remaining part of the Saturn V rocket and the Apollo spacecraft into earth orbit and, after it has coasted around the earth once, fires again to send off to the moon the 45-ton Apollo space craft."

The Apollo space craft will go into orbit around the moon and the astronauts will land on the moon's surface in a smaller craft carried aboard the Apollo. They will return to the Apollo space craft for the trip back to Earth, Dr. Bisplinghoff added.

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

MOON, OR BUST: James E. Webb, head of the U.S. space program, says the chances of landing an American on the moon within this decade are waning month by month, for lack of funds.

Asked at a news conference Wednesday about the delay in House action on the $141-million supplemental budget request of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Webb said: "We cannot authorize work to go forward until the funds are appropriated."

"Failure to grant these funds can delay Project Apollo or at least reduce the fighting chance we now have to achieve our goal."

1934 SPACE HELMET—Museum director Philip S. Hopkins is examining a space helmet built in 1934 for Wiley Post's high altitude flights, and presented to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington by the B. F. Goodrich Co., Akron, Ohio. Goodrich also created the Project Mercury space suits.

"With each passing month we have a little less of that fighting chance to do the job in this decade."

GREEN LIGHT: The Communications Satellite Corp. is another step closer to being a going concern.

The Federal Communications Commission Wednesday gave the green light for the fledgling, government-chartered corporation to construct a satellite system to relay communications between the United States, Canada and Western Europe.

Further authorization will be needed before the satellites can be placed in orbit and used in experimental or commercial service.

Columbus Hitchhiker Is Killed by Train

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's a weird, this presidential election year, one of the weirdest in a long time.

In polls or presidential primaries:

1. A woman without a chance — Maine's Senator, Margaret Chase Smith—picks up speed but she's not going any place.

2. A prince of Southern segregationists — Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace—does surprisingly well in the North.

3. The men who talked and tried the hardest—New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater—finished behind the silent Sam type — Henry Cabot Lodge—who wasn't even there.

And Pennsylvania's Gov. William Scranton—who could rock himself to sleep with the monotonous insistence that he has no presidential ambitions while admitting he'd accept a "draft"—is still considered a likely Republican presidential prospect.

Yet, there are probably not 10 Republicans in 100 outside Pennsylvania who have any idea what Scranton thinks on any issue or even what kind of governor he has been.

Wallace went into the Wisconsin primary and captured 25 per cent of the total vote, proving if it needed proving, that a lot of Northern whites are just as much segregationist as Southern whites.

Then in the Illinois primary—where his name wasn't even on the ballot—more than 4,500 people wrote it in, giving him more votes than Rockefeller, Scranton, Michigan's Gov. George Romney, and Harold Stassen.

Mrs. Smith campaigned hard in the New Hampshire primary last month and wound up down near the bottom of the list with only 2,120 votes. In this week's Illinois primary she said she spent only $85 on two campaign appearances.

But when the returns came in she had almost 200,000 votes. Goldwater got 480,000. Their two names were the only ones on the ballot.

The Illinois write-in voters weren't satisfied with Goldwater or Mrs. Smith. They wrote in Lodge, giving him over 52,000 votes, and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, giving him over 24,000.

But the real weirdy in all of it is the popularity of Lodge who—because he is U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam under the Johnson administration—hasn't said a word about what he thinks on domestic issues.

And, because he hasn't held political office in 14 years—since John F. Kennedy took his Senate seat away from him in 1952—probably few Republicans can remember where he stands or what he thinks on anything.

Yet in the New Hampshire primary, where his name was not even on the ballot and voters decided to write it in, he finished first over all other Republicans who are, or want to be, considered for their party's nomination.

He came out ahead of Goldwater, Rockefeller and Mrs. Smith. Their names were on the ballot and they had campaigned hard around the state. Nixon's name was also written in. He finished fourth, behind Lodge, Goldwater and Rockefeller but ahead of Mrs. Smith.

And just recently in Oregon a poll among Republicans on their presidential preferences put Lodge far ahead of Nixon, Rockefeller, Goldwater and Mrs. Smith.

(Nixon says he's not seeking the presidential nomination but, for a man who says he isn't, he is doing a lot of talking, and has kept on talking about American problems even when he went on an overseas trip.)

The continuing popularity of Lodge, who has never said he is a candidate, might be interpreted as a changing attitude in American politics—that people like politicians who keep their mouths shut.

But that's an idea that can't be carried too far, otherwise the men who wind up being the Democratic and Republican candidates would have to go to Europe and stay there during the presidential campaign.

Hopping the Cadiz

CADIZ, Ky. (AP) — Transportation costs getting too high? Try the Cadiz Railroad. It's free.

When the passenger business dried up before World War II, the railroad never bothered to go through the red tape to formally end its classification as a passenger carrier.

The line handles 350 to 400 freight cars a year between Cadiz and the Louisville & Nashville Railroad connection at Gracey. It's only eight miles between the towns but the railroad added more than two miles of curves so it could have a 10-mile line the minimum distance to officially be termed a railroad.

The only passenger business now, says President W. C. White II, is a few rail fans.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

During the past two years the people of Pickaway County have voiced their opinion, through this column and verbally, concerning the theater situation in this city. Most people just cannot understand why we do not have a theater here.

I would like to take this opportunity to point out the other side of the story — which most people do not know. I think the Chakeres people would be the first to say that their last 10 years of operation here ended in the red. In fact, I personally reviewed the 1961 statement of the Grand Theater and the loss for that year was quite substantial.

This is hardly enough inducement for any firm or individual to pour $40,000 or $50,000 into the Cliftona to make it a top notch theater. Nor is it any inducement to put forth $20,000 just to get the doors opened up, less any frills and luxuries such as air conditioning and plush seats.

If the Cliftona had been in a condition where a person could just open the doors and welcome the people this would be a different situation. And I am sure you could have found a promoter to go into this venture.

But when you walk into the Cliftona and view the destruction that has taken place during the 10 years the doors have been closed, you stop and think — is there enough support here in this community to be able to amortize a $20,000 improvement, plus take up the loss which the trade was incurring in the previous years?

To date there have been many lookers, well wishers and encouragers. But still no one has come forth with the cash to get this operation under way.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce have approached me on ways and means of opening the Cliftona. My first question always is: "will the people support this thing?" Just because a few concerned teenagers and adults write letters to the editor does not prove to me that there is a great demand for the theater. When you get right down to actual facts and figures on bringing good entertainment to this town (not cheap sex movies) you would have to have 1,000 adults pass through your front doors every week to break even on this operation.

How many movies did you attend in 1961? How many would you attend in 1965 if the city did have a theater? These are all unanswered questions.

This is why I have approached the Chamber on the idea of this organization endorsing the sale of $25 book tickets to the public to see if there is enough real interest — or is it all talk? Already I have received some criticism for this kind of promotion since this has not been done for any other business starting up in Circleville. This is correct, but how many other businesses would open an operation where there had repeatedly been losses and there was no evidence the future would be any brighter?

Also some businesses can come to town and open a store. Then after experiencing adversity they decide to close their doors with a big going out of business sale. They sell everything except the paint on the walls.

This has been done and the merchants' loss has been greatly reduced. In some incidents even a profit resulted.

But in the theater business, there is practically nothing to sell except a few pieces of equipment that are a drug on the market. For instance a used theater seat is worth about $1, a used pair of cinemascope lenses which cost $3,200 ten years ago are worth $150. Other pieces of equipment you would have to pay to get hauled away.

So this business is just a little different than most others. Things are not all peaches and cream as some might believe. If it were, I am sure thousands of movie houses all over the country would not be closed today.

In conclusion, I feel this pre-sale of tickets will be a good guide as to whether the majority of people will actually support a theater. Or is this talk of a movie voice of the minority who like to talk and take no action?

Dear Editor:

Approximately two weeks ago a classmate and I were in the Public Library doing research for term papers for school.

After working hard for two hours, I got up from my chair and walked around to stretch. My friend did the same and both of us found our way to the south wall of the main reading room.

As you probably know, along this wall are some drawings of bird nests and eggs. Hanging on the wall is a painting of a lady standing beside a bound copy of those same bird pictures.

Wandering around the room still, we came upon a relief of the original circle and square mounds in which our city was built. Moving still farther, we noticed a large plaque of the famous Logan Elm. The signature on all of these works of art was the same — Dr. Howard L. Jones.

After a little research, we discovered that Dr. Jones was born in Cleveland, in 1853. A year later his parents moved to Circleville. He was reared here and was graduated from Everts High School. After attending college in the East, he returned to Circleville and established his medical practice.

Actually, his sister began the bird drawings, but she died of cancer before they were finished. He picked up where she left off and later had the original copies printed.

Only 50 copies were made, and forty-seven of these were destroyed in a fire which leveled his home.

Of the remaining three copies, one unbound copy is in our Public Library, one is in a private home in Circleville, and the other is in the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C.

With these invaluable contributions in mind, does it not make you wonder why no recognition or memorial has ever been given to Dr. Jones? Is his work to go on unnoticed? Were his untiring efforts made in vain?

In the past, such gifts have not been overlooked. In our research, we uncovered a very interesting bit of information concerning the real name of our Public Library.

Mr. Wallace Higgins, a CHS teacher and past president of the Pickaway County Historical Society, told us that many years ago a man named Marcus Brown gave the library $5,000, whereupon the name of the library was made "The Marcus Brown Memorial Library." True, very few Circleville citizens know the library's real name because there is no sign anywhere in the building to indicate such a memorial.

Here are some basic facts: 1. Our library has a name that no one ever uses because no one was around at the time that name was given to it. 2. Marcus Brown's gift has become an unknown segment of our city's heritage.

3. In the past quarter-century one man has contributed just as much or more to the county and the library. (He died in 1945).

4. We are not likely to forget his gifts as easily because they are still with us.

Our goal, then, is to rename the public library. We want to free Howard L. Jones' name from the veil of obscurity and give full recognition to his accomplishments and contributions.

The suggested name, "The Howard L. Jones Memorial Library" is a fitting reminder of the outstanding efforts made by this beloved hometown doctor.

The problem has been discussed in several classes at Circleville High School. The Circleville Hi-Y Club voted full support of the plan. Mrs. Ray Davis, president of the Pickaway County Historical Society, has offered her assistance, and it is hoped that many other clubs and organizations will soon realize the need to correct the injustice that has been done.

Assistance from other clubs on this project would be appreciated. Speakers are available for group meetings and there will be more publicity. We hope interest will continue to grow as it has in the past week and that the front page will soon carry the story of the actual changing of the library's name.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Despite all warnings, medicines still are the cause of half of all accidental poisonings in children under the age of five. The single leading cause of such severe poisonings is aspirin.

This valuable drug is not usually thought to be hazardous. Yet it can be when taken in large quantities.

There is an over-concentrated drive to make medicines more palatable for children by flavoring them to resemble candy, vitamins, laxatives, antibiotics, and even barbiturates and tranquilizers have been specially compounded to induce children to believe they are eating candy, not medicines.

To children without a differentiating sense, candy is candy, whether or not it may contain medicines. The temptation becomes particularly great for them when parents limit candy because "it's bad for the teeth."

The child's understandable confusion about "sweets" is not clarified because the "candy" is kept in a bottle with a "safety cap." Safety cap bottles may even enhance the temptation by presenting an intriguing challenge to the ingenuity of older children.

The bathroom medicine cabinet is too commonly used to house shaving lotions, nail polish, deodorants, hair solutions and even lotions. These cabinets are readily accessible to children.

Even toddlers have been known to find their way into these "inaccessible recesses."

Tiny infants, too, may be fed these medical and non-medical substances by slightly older children, who have gotten into the "candy" and want to share it.

The Council on Rural Health of the American Medical Association embarked on a concentrated educational program to prevent the accidental household poisoning of an estimated half million people yearly. The essential features of the campaign for poison control listed below are urgently recommended.

1) Label everything. Don't depend on memory when identification can be made certain so easily.

2) Keep all household chemicals, cleansing agents and polishes out of reach of children.

3) Keep all medicines, including such common drugs as aspirin, in a locked or inaccessible cabinet.

4) Never put a poison or toxic substance in a container designed to hold food — milk bottles, soft drink bottles, cereal boxes, etc.

5) Recognize children's curiosity, and the fact that they will eat or drink anything regardless of its flavor.

6) Teach children that there are some things that belong to adults only, and the youngsters must leave them alone.

Another Soviet 'Flop'

By Hal Boyle

At a time when the anti-poverty campaigners in Washington are pondering ways of providing vocational education in secondary schools for kids who don't seem to be able to make connections with the working economy of the country, the Russians are apparently discovering that such education can be mighty disappointing.

It was just six years ago that Premier Khrushchev, who is willing to try anything once, decided that kids might as well combine their high school education with work. This sort of thing is done on the college level in the United States, notably at Antioch College in Ohio, and at Bennington and Goddard colleges in Vermont.

These progressive colleges excuse their students from class for a couple of months each winter to take jobs in industry. The rationale is that when education and "life" are thus brought closer together, the student will learn more about adjusting theory to reality in getting on in this world.

Adapting the Antioch-Bennington idea to the Russian scene, the Soviet government decreed in 1958 that students in the upper high school years should spend two days each week working in factories or on farms. This "practical" exposure to labor was designed to supplement both theoretical instruction and actual vocational training in the high schools. But apparently it hasn't had any good results. It has, according to a spate of articles in the Soviet press, served to weaken the educational level of the high schools, postponed student access to higher education, and contributed virtually nothing to the working skills of the younger Soviet generations.

Because the Soviet farms and factories aren't set up to make room for high school students on a two-day-per-week basis, Soviet boys and girls have found themselves spending most of the time on their "industry days" standing around while the full-time adult workers go about their normal business. What the kids get is contemptuously referred to as "over-the-shoulder practice." Instead of teaching them real skills, this "shoulder" work has actually encouraged a distaste for any toil that involves sweat. Moreover, it has wasted two days in each week that might have gone into solid training in mathematics, physics and other intellectual fundamentals that would be of great use to students in later life.

Soviet pedagogical magazines say that the program of "shoulder practice" is intolerable. But the problem is how to get the news through to Khrushchev.

The collapse of Khrushchev's 1958 hopes for a successful "new" form of education for Soviet children has gone hand in hand with the failure of other "progressive" experiments which the pragmatic Nikita has cherished. His "new lands" project for raising wheat in the arid regions of Central Asia has been a great disappointment.

His attempt to domesticate the culture of Iowa corn — or maize — in an unfavorable climate belt has not added appreciably to the Russian larder. The good thing about Khrushchev's pragmatism, however, is that it can contemplate the abandonment of unsuccessful projects in favor of other ideas, whether old or new. The education should not find it too difficult to get Khrushchev to listen to them.

Who knows, maybe the boss of the Kremlin will one day discover that Communism is in itself a failure. He seems to be trembling on the verge of such discovery in several areas. In eastern Europe, according to a Budapest dispatch by the Wall Street Journal's Ray Vicker, industries are being told to subordinate pure Communism to the needs for making a profit in a supply-and-demand market. Certain east European industries have even been permitted to lay off unnecessary workers.

Since Khrushchev wants to see the Hungarian economy productive of more "goulash," he has approved the experimentation with "western" techniques. He has told Hungarian state farm supervisors not to "kid themselves" that they are doing better than the capitalist farmers of Iowa. But he can't take the last step, which would be to approve of individual ownership of farms.

One gets the impression that Khrushchev would like greatly to move to a definite "mixed" economy with many capitalist features, but doesn't dare admit it. He is still afraid that Karl Marx might not approve.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Township trustees may hire an independent contractor to care for a township cemetery under their jurisdiction, Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said today in a ruling asked by Ross County Prosecutor Robert L. Perdue.

"A contract with an independent contractor should be so drawn that responsibility is retained by the board of township trustees," the opinion said.

POMEROY, Ohio (AP) — The Meigs County village of Reedsville on the Ohio River, site of the Reedsville - Belleville lock and dam project, was threatened for a time Wednesday afternoon and night by a forest fire that burned over 100 acres.

Only the prompt action of some 250 fire fighters, including construction crews working on the river project, saved the town of some 500 people from serious damage, said Meigs County fire warden Victor Bahr.

The construction crews, using bulldozers, dug a wide ditch to prevent the flames from reaching the village in the river bottom. A steep hill rises just behind the town, and the fire swept down the hill, destroying brush and trees.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One thing a hypnotist needs, said Dr. William J. Bryan Jr., is a quiet office.

He filed suit in Superior Court Wednesday, asking $55,000 in damages from his landlord.

He said the owners of the building on Sunset Boulevard made noisy alterations after he moved in, then rented space next door to a music publisher. The result: Plunking pianos kept his patient awake.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., civil rights leader, says that this year he may endorse a presidential candidate for the first time.

Speaking to some 1,000 persons at a high school auditorium Wednesday night, King said his choice will not be Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

"If the Republicans nominate brother Goldwater, I don't think many Negroes will vote for him," King said.

CALUMET, Okla. (AP) — A wild natural gas well that spewed approximately four million cubic feet of gas in this central Oklahoma area for more than two days was capped Wednesday.

The well blew out Monday and experts estimated it was leaking at a rate of about two million cubic feet every 24 hours. Twenty-six persons living in the rural area were evacuated because of the danger of fire or explosion. They have returned to their homes.

AYLESBURY, England (AP) — Judge Edmund Davies sentenced 12 men today to prison terms ranging up to 30 years for their part in Britain's great train robbery.

Seven men were sentenced to prison for 30 years, two for 25, one for 24, one for 20 and one for three years.

The robbery of the Glasgow to London mail train on Aug. 8 netted the gang 2.6 million pounds — $7,680,000 — the greatest cash haul in modern times.

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Hopes of conciliation in the Belgian doctors' strike were raised today.

Social Affairs Minister Edmond Leburton told newsmen Wednesday night the government would consider suspension of the strike a goodwill gesture that could lead to negotiations.

Previously, Prime Minister Theo Levevre had insisted that only the end of the strike could bring about discussions on changes in the health insurance system, the doctors' target.

The doctors also were conciliatory. A spokesman said they considered that the talks, which broke down early Sunday, were only suspended.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — For 3½ weeks Dutch artist Fritz Meyer and his wife hobnobbed with the captain of the Dutch liner Willem Ruys. Then the skipper found out they were stowaways.

"Just imagine," Capt. Herman Van Den Heuvel told reporters today. "These people introduced themselves to me at a cocktail party and I thought they were a fine couple. During the voyage I saw them at several parties. I even shared a bottle of wine with them."

The Meyers were hoping to return to Australia. They had come as immigrants in 1956 but had gone back to Holland two years later.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Army troops have smashed the third antigovernment revolt since Syria's Baath Socialist regime came to power in a military coup 13 months ago.

A government spokesman said an uprising in Hamah, 130 miles north of Damascus, was put down Wednesday with two persons killed. The city of 100,000 was still under a 24-hour curfew today, but bakeries and groceries were ordered to reopen, and easing of the restriction was expected.

BUKAVU, Kivu Province, the Congo (AP) — Five policemen were killed and a number of civilians injured Wednesday in a raid blamed on African gangs of rebel leader Pierre Mulele.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Sixty-two nations will be invited to the second Asian-African summit conference, to be held in Africa next March.

But Malaysia will not be among them unless the dispute with Indonesia is settled. And a proposed invitation to the Soviet Union was left unsettled because of objections raised by Red China at a preliminary meeting which ended Wednesday.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Gunfire erupted in Lebanon's campaign for a new Parliament and eight persons were wounded near the historic city of Byblos.

Security forces made 47 arrests in the village of Abeidat after an armed dispute erupted Wednesday between supporting groups of two rival candidates.

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's daughter Mary appealed today to Britain's potato marketing board to produce a nonfattening spud.

"I'm a lifelong devotee of the potato," she said. "I eat them every day. I'm an absolute addict."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "This is for real," Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton told newsmen. She was commenting on her marriage April 7 to Asian Prince Raymond Doan Vinh.

Speaking at City College of New York in Manhattan, Douglas said advertising and science are the "mouthpieces" of conformity — "levelers" whose energies must be redirected or else "each valley will be paved and each mountain will have a chairlift."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Now Become a Man!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old boy who is about to be drafted. I am not a coward, but I would just rather not go for two reasons. One is that I am used to my privacy and don't like to have a lot of people around me. The other is I know that I won't be able to adjust to Army life. The only way out, as I see it, is to get married, but I can't seem to find a girl. Can you help me?

LOOKING: Look, buddy, if every American male ducked military service for the reasons you give, our country would be a sitting duck for its enemies. Your survival would be a bigger problem than your "privacy." And your "adjustment" would be to bondage rather than to a brief hitch for Uncle Sam. Sign up and grow up. It'll do you good!

DEAR ABBY: Would you please put a word in your column explaining to people that widowed and divorced women are still addressed as "Mrs."? So many of my Christmas cards were addressed "Miss", or worse yet, no title whatsoever. This makes a husbandless woman feel like "nothing."

"A MRS." DEAR MRS.: I have written this many times in my column, and I will write it again. Once a woman has been married, unless she arranges to resume her maiden name she is never again a "Miss." P.S. Many women choose to omit either the Miss or Mrs. from THEIR correspondence—thus adding to the general confusion.

DEAR ABBY: How do you feel about a "Come and see us sometime" type of invitation?

My husband seems to think it is perfectly all right. He is forever dragging me places where we are not expected just because the people have said, "Come and see us sometime." Nine out of ten times it is apparent we have inconvenienced them even though they act polite, and glad to see us. My husband thinks that everyone likes unexpected company because it wouldn't bother him one bit if folks dropped by our house when the place was a mess and I had nothing to serve. But it would bother me plenty. I can't drive this point home to him. Can you?

UNNERVED DEAR UNNERVED A "come and see us sometime" type of invitation should not be taken seriously. When folks really want your company, they call and invite you for specific time.

Methodists Chill Merger

Said Unresolved 'Many Questions'

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Protestant church leaders sifted through a strongly worded Methodist statement today for clues to the future of a movement to unite six major churches embracing 21 million members.

A Methodist commission attending the third annual Consultation on Christian Union issued a statement Wednesday saying there were many theological and social questions that would take a long time to resolve.

"Although one must never overlook the possibility of the intervention of the Holy Spirit to bring men to a common mind," the statement said, "it is difficult at this time to judge that a plan of union of the churches is feasible during the coming quadrennium (a four-year period)."

The statement emphasized, however, that this must not be construed as closing the door to ultimate unity. A spokesman said the statement was drafted some time ago, but essentially still holds.

Methodist Bishop Glenn Phillips of Denver, Colo., had said Tuesday that union of the six denominations may take as long as 20 or 30 years to be realized.

In a companion development, a spokesman for the Protestant Episcopal Church said he did not expect his church's governing body to initiate a general plan of union when it meets later this year.

The Methodists and Episcopalians have been meeting intermittently for three years with delegates of the United Presbyterian Church, United Church of Christ and the Disciples of Christ and Evangelical United Brethren Churches.

Spokesmen for the other denominations did not comment immediately on the Methodist statement.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If you have a spring yen for salad, this may be the week to satisfy it. Fresh vegetables are in plentiful supply at produce counters in the nation's supermarkets.

Menu-brighteners like radishes, cucumbers, greens, lettuce, green onions, carrots, celery, broccoli, cabbage and tomatoes carry attractive prices as the seasonal supply continues to grow.

Red meats lead the main course department, with beef roasts and steaks featured at many meat counters. One national chain offers rib roast at 63 cents a pound and boneless chuck at 59 cents a pound at its New York City area outlets.

Top and bottom round roasts are listed in the same markets for 85 cents a pound.

Pork cuts also are featured. One Northeastern chain has pork chops at 89 cents a pound, down 6 cents from last week, and is listing specials on ham.

Egg prices continue to reflect the calendar, especially those for large sizes. Heavy spring laying makes this a traditional bargain time for eggs. One chain lists its grade A large eggs at 49 cents a dozen, up slightly from last week.

Poultry remains an attractive buy, particularly in Midwestern and Southwestern stores.

Melons and avocados are being featured in the Northeast: apples and oranges in the Midwest and Southwest. In the Southeast, fresh strawberry supplies are still generous.

Some cooks like to sieve cottage cheese before using it in cheese cake to promote smooth texture.

Big Cartel's Sale Gets Nod

General Aniline Injunction Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court just has opened the way for sale of the giant General Aniline & Film Corp. to private American enterprise.

Dist. Judge David A. Pine lifted an injunction he imposed last year which barred the Justice Department and a Swiss holding company from carrying out an agreement they reached to settle the 20-year-old dispute over ownership of the firm.

General Aniline, a photo supply, dye and chemical manufacturer with plants in nine states, was seized by the federal government in 1942 as German property. This was during World War II.

Interhandel, the Swiss holding company, later objected to the seizure, contending it owned 89.5 per cent of the seized stock and as Switzerland was a neutral country was not subject to the Trading With the Enemy Act.

The Justice Department contended Interhandel was a front for the German chemical cartel I. G. Farben.

An out-of-court settlement was reached by the Justice Department and Interhandel last spring which included sale of the firm to private American enterprise and distribution of the proceeds between the United States and Interhandel.

The U.S. District Court was asked last October to approve the agreement. Pine later issued his injunction.

In his brief order today, Pine said no intervenors in the case would be adversely affected by the agreement worked out by the Justice Department and Interhandel.

He also said the compromise agreement did not require court approval.

Even 'New Look' Fails To Help U.S. Communists

EDITOR'S NOTE—In desperation, the Communist party in the United States had to have a new look, something as American as "Mom's blueberry pie." But even that didn't help as decline and dissension increased, as told in this third of four articles on the party's troubles.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent

Upon the hammer and sickle symbol of violent revolution, Communists in the United States are trying to superimpose a picture of "Mom's blueberry pie."

Grabbing for gimmicks in its struggle for political survival, the Communist Party U.S.A.—CPUSA—is trying to produce the respectable, true-blue, all-American Communist.

The party's founding paper, now the twice-weekly Worker, tipped the Communist hand not long ago. It was discussing Soviet Premier Khrushchev's 1957 prediction that U.S. grandchildren would "live under socialism." Said the Worker, which once ridiculed capitalists for promising pie in the sky:

"Not the Russian socialism, of course, but something as American as Mom's blueberry pie."

The picture of blueberry pies betokens a desperate search for a new sales pitch. The old cartoon image of the bomb-wielding, bewhiskered Communist would have to go if the party was to get anywhere in a nation with the world's highest living standard.

The party had not lacked for money in the old days. From what leaders hinted, money came from Moscow and there was other money from contributions, dues, businesses set up by the party and odd millionaires with odd predilections for the extreme left.

Battered by crises and Kremlin flipflops, the party came apart at the seams after Khrushchev in 1956 revealed the awful truth about Stalin.

Inside the U.S. politburo, then under General Secretary Eugene Dennis, a bitter quarrel raged. Dogmatic old William Z. Foster wanted to throw out Worker editor John Gates as an "anti-Soviet revisionist." In the Worker, Gates had denounced the Soviet stranglehold of 1956, another of the rude shocks to the U.S. party's morale. Negro leader Benjamin Davis Jr., seemed all-out to boost himself against all comers.

In the end, Gates quit the party, as many had before him. Gates had wanted the party to go American again — even to dropping the name "Communist" to indicate independence from Moscow control.

There had been many such protestations of independence before, but it had been all window-dressing.

Gates, however, said he really meant it, that he could see no future in the party being a carbon copy of Moscow's.

2 Ohio Escapees Held In Michigan Jail

REED CITY, Mich. (AP)—

Two Ohio prison escapees caught here Wednesday have been jailed in lieu of $20,000 bond on charges of armed robbery and auto theft.

Dennis P. Lanum, 26, of Cleveland, and Larry L. Shoemaker, 22, of Lima, Ohio, were held for arraignment in Osceola County Circuit Court next month. They escaped a prison honor camp near Sandusky, Ohio, several days ago and were brought here after the holdup of an Evert, Mich., motel, attempted holdup of an Evert service station, and theft of the motel owner's car and one in Sandusky.

Gates might have won the inner party battle if he had wanted to fight it out. But suppose he won? What would he have gained? Control? Of what? There was little left to win—just a party of old, tired people with no place else to go.

Those who remained as leaders and "apparatchiks" pulled down salaries and settled into the life of revolutionary bureaucrats. In its own way, it wasn't too bad a life. Communist leaders would have a tough time making a living outside the party.

They went through the routine, ground out the leaflets, hoped for a change in the national climate which might improve their fortunes. But nothing short of the gravest of economic depressions would be likely to help them.

They had other worries, too. Small as it is, the U.S. party has a Chinese wing, like so many around the world in the backwash of the Soviet-Chinese quarrel. Peking floods New York and the West Coast with propaganda of all sorts, outstripping Moscow, which provides little more these days than collections of Khrushchev speeches.

What about those who quit? Earl Browder, deposed in 1945 for misreading Kremlin intentions, is an ailing man who will be 73 in May, living out his years, with bitter memories, at his Yonkers, N.Y., home.

Gates works on research for the International Ladies Garment Workers Union in New York, the picture of a man completely cured of the Communist ailment.

Others have taken on research projects or various scholarly pursuits, apparently avoiding politics as the plague. Others are just unemployed, some living on the insurance and Social Security they once derided as measures of "bourgeois reformism," theoretically wrong because they dulled revolutionary sentiments.

All face the problem of making a living. Jobs are hard to come by. Preoccupied with subsisting, they have little time for politics. Most seem to have had enough for one lifetime, are not even interested in organizing ex-Communists.

But there still is much to be wary of regarding the U.S. Communists.

Lausche Questions Federal Plan for SE Ohio Strip Mine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank Lausche said Wednesday the federal government is indirectly subsidizing strip coal mining in southeast Ohio, then turning around and asking huge sums to rehabilitate the land.

U.S. Casualty Rate Climbs In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The mounting bloodshed of South Viet Nam's guerrilla war has raised the American battle casualty rate.

In the first 4½ months of 1964, 324 American servicemen have become battle casualties: 32 killed, 292 wounded and two missing. The rate has risen steadily, but if it remained what it is now, the total for 1964 could be expected to reach nearly 900.

Last year, total U.S. casualties numbered 503. The total for 1962 was 101, and in 1961 there were fewer than 10.

Since 1961, 131 Americans have been killed in action.

The majority of the American casualties have been suffered in helicopters or aircraft, which are especially vulnerable to the Communists' growing arsenal of modern weapons. Most of the enemy's anti-aircraft weapons are American made, and were captured in raids and ambushes on government troops units.

Jerseyite Arrested For Theft of Ohio Safe

EAST ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—

The FBI arrested Edward Robert Dowling, 36, at his home here Wednesday in connection with the theft of $920 from a safe at Etna in Licking County, Ohio, and of a panel truck the same day in July 1963.

Dowling was charged with fleeing Ohio to avoid prosecution for grand larceny, auto larceny and forcible entry. The safe theft occurred in the trailer office of the Nolan Amusement Co. Dowling is in Hudson County jail in lieu of $5,000 bail.

The SAVINGS Auto BANK Member FDIC

Lausche, reading a letter from a Belmont County constituent, said a proposed new strip mining operation in the county, which "will despoil nearly one-third of the county," adding it apparently is designed to furnish coal for a proposed $300 million power plant in nearby Harrison County.

He told the senate the power plant is being built by the Ohio Power Co. in cooperation with 23 rural electrification cooperatives.

Lausche said he had asked the Rural Electrification Administration to study the matter, but doubted the agency could or would do anything about it.

Sen. Allen Ellender, D-La., pointed out that the REA has no direct authority over the operation of local cooperatives but can only provide low interest loans for construction.

Lausche said the money for the Harrison County project is coming from private sources.

As governor of Ohio, Lausche said, he tried without success to throw a halt over the wide ranging activities of strip coal mining firms.

He said that unless limestone is turned up with the coal, no plant can grow again in the areas so mined, and the companies have no responsibility to rehabilitate the soil.

Lausche said it didn't make sense for the government to permit this, then to ask for millions of dollars to help make the area livable again, referring to the program of the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Garden Gossip

The Harry Heffners, 324 S. Court St., have an old weeping mulberry tree. Weeping mulberries were a status symbol in the gay nineties.

Now a lawn free of crabgrass is big stuff. And when Windsor grass is better known my prediction is that the man with the Windsor grass lawn will be the top banana.

Mrs. Kenny Hannan was wondering if pre-emergence chemicals that killed crabgrass seeds were poisonous to dogs who, she pointed out, were great grass eaters.

Bob Brehmer says that products he sells are guaranteed to be non-toxic to man and pets. He assumed that other companies were careful about this, too.

The Norman Goddens have an excellent stand of grass. They have an extensive lawn and Norman has promised me an interview so I can tell my readers how he managed it. The Goddens live at the intersection of Routes 56 and 189.

My son, Robert Jones, is predicting great popularity for Zoya grass which stays brown late and gets brown early. "Think," says he, "Of all the mowing it will save."

Mrs. Clark Will's backyard boasts a beautiful colony of species tulips. These tiny tulips are said to persist for many years and spread. Mrs. Will lives on W. Mound St.

Darwin tulips deteriorate in a couple of years. The popular Red Emperor is said to last some five years or so.

Mrs. Orwell Barr, N. Court St. likes to put new tulips in front. When she transplants the old bulbs in back she says they seem to take a new lease on life.

Incidentally, Mrs. Barr's philodendron does not grow upside-down. The art editor just got the picture in the paper upside-down.

Mrs. Frank Bennett, S. Court St., has a lot of mahonia which is coming into bloom any time now. We always think of mahonia as a foliage shrub until we see it bloom.

Miss Helen Hoffman, E. Union St., says that her mahonia is attractive now. She described the leaves as mahogany in color.

Mrs. C. G. Schulze, 316 S. Court St., still has her boxwood hedge protected with heavy canvass. Boxwood is relatively hardy but is often burned by sun and wind.

A report of the recent flower show ought to inspire all arrangers to go out and buy containers of pewee-washed copper. Many of the blue ribbon arrangements seemed to have been made in such containers.

Mrs. Irvin Thomas of the Amanda community has a rock garden on the hillside near her house. She herself hauled the stones from the creek for the garden.

Herschel Hill, Northridge Road, says he is about to switch over to organic gardening and see what happens.

Loring Hill of Kingston, one of the best gardeners we know, is to all intents and purposes an organic gardener.

And the late Louis Bromfield practiced organic gardening principles.

We have noticed many blooming forsythias with butch hair cuts. We are not sure whether the blossoms come "in spite of" or "because of." But a properly trimmed and thinned forsythia is a shrub of considerable beauty. Notice the one at the corner of the Paul Brown Insurance office next to the courthouse.

We meant to ask Bob Cole if his acid loving shrubs planted near his house needed additional acid added to the soil or if the soil was right. There are quite a few oak trees in the vicinity and we have heard oaks create an acid soil.

Bob Cole, George Hamrick, and Herschel Hill made excellent panelists when Rachel Carson's "Silent Spring" was discussed. This took place at a garden club meeting.

George Hamrick's most common refrain is "read the label and follow the directions." He maintains that in every case of insecticide poisoning, carelessness and misuse are to blame.

Jim Reichelderfer, E. Union St., says he has watched with interest as more "Do Not Spray" signs go up along the highways.

Mrs. Will J. Muse, Collins Court, had the courage to actually dig up and rearrange a whole flower bed. The rest of us just talk about it. Mrs. Muse has an hibiscus with foliage of great beauty. It sets buds but never blooms. As soon as she puts the plant on her porch the buds will make blossoms of great beauty. It's the moisture she thinks.

Mrs. E. E. Clifton at 502 N. Pickaway has just returned to town after being in Florida. She hardly had a chance to examine her backyard before she took off for Dayton. She did, however, notice that her roses had wintered over poorly. She visited a garden store man in Dayton and his roses were in the same fix.

Foster Franks, Park of Roses boss man, declared that the park roses did not winter over well. The winter of '62 and '63 was difficult. And the summer of '63 did not help matters.

Foster Franks is not at all dogmatic about rose care. He says if you do things a certain way and it works keep it up. Don't change at his suggestion, he says. But recently on The Green Thumb program he stated unequivocally that roses must be planted with the bud at least one inch below the soil. That he said was a must in this climate.

Dr. Ray Carroll's unusual magnolia is ready to bloom again. This tree has small flowers on it and blooms very early. It grows in the backyard at his office.

Mrs. Alden Bray, 346 Meadow Lane, believes that the winter took its toll with their newly planted things. Planting was done during the very severe drought.

Robert Kuhn, rose fancier, who lives on the corner of High and Washington Sts., had a sorry tale to tell about what the winter had done to his roses. He believes the last hard freeze we had was what really turned the trick.

Echium Okay For Poor Soil

Gardeners ought to introduce themselves to Echium.

This is an annual flower that is also called Viper's Bugloss. And the reason gardeners should know about it is that it belongs to a genus of plants particularly adapted to poor soil and sunny dry locations.

It just seems as though every gardener would have a spot somewhere which answered to this description. Echium comes in a pleasing mixture of pink, lavender and blue.

Several years ago we saw whole fields of this plant near Yellow Springs. We brought some home for Floyd Bartley to identify.

IT IS really quite a pretty flower, a little on the coarse side and when we saw it in the fields it was all blue — a true blue, seldom seen.

The fact that it is so adaptable causes me to suggest that it could become a weed. It bloomed in mid June when I saw it.

Country Kyles Find Living In City Is Fine Adventure

The Tom Kyles, formerly of Saltcreek Twp., are currently acting the part of city slickers and loving every moment of their new role.

Mr. and Mrs. Kyle operated an 82-acre dairy farm near Whisler for 16 years. Their herd numbered about 52 cattle, 27 of which were milking cows. They also had a flock of 750 laying hens.

Just four weeks ago Saturday the Kyles held a farm sale. Since then they have moved to town to a dandy little home at 202 Eastmore. Tom Kyle now manages Dr. C. W. Cromley's egg factory.

Saturday morning Mrs. Kyle was out bright and early raking the lawn. It was her first chance to really put in some hard licks on the new lawn and to investigate her legacy of plant material.

MRS. KYLE has some excellent specimens of evergreens planted near the house. There is an apple tree, a French lilac which will produce many blossoms this year (barring freezes) and a Japanese quince.

In the two concrete urns which

CITY WORK — According to Mrs. Tom Kyle who recently moved to Circleville from a farm near Whisler, a small town yard is just plain fun. She raked the entire lawn in an hour or two last Saturday. The Kyles are going in for roses and have interesting plans to beautify their new yard. Yes indeed, there's to be a small vegetable garden! The Kyles are used to farm flank the sidewalk in front, Mrs. Kyle will plant petunias and geraniums for color. She thinks the yard will be pretty, given time.

THE EASY LIFE — It took Mrs. Tom Kyle about one week to adjust to city living. The Kyles formerly operated a dairy farm in Saltcreek Twp. Now they live on Eastmore. Mrs. Kyle is pictured here with her toy miniature fox terriers, the only "live-stock" they brought to town. Curiously enough the Kyles, who are used to wide open spaces, love the tiny yard with its stylish barbecue unit.

Knowing the Kyles we are sure of it. In the country they had a sizeable yard, always nicely groomed and a vegetable garden — a big one. The Kyle farm was well kept and well painted and was an efficient, progressive agricultural unit. All this took a prodigious amount of work. And Mrs. Kyle did her share.

AT THEIR new home on Eastmore, everything is scaled down considerably. Miss the farm? Not the Kyles! They love the new neighborhood and the little yard. They love city living!

And they love, apparently, the fact that their work load has been scaled down to where it's fun instead of a burden.

Just the first week Mrs. Kyle was a trifle lonely. Not any more. She's just livin' it up in her easy-to-keep compact little home.

They are planning to have roses. And since Mrs. Kyle has always been partial to Madonna lilies, she's going to send in an order for lilies.

Arrangement Tips Come in Seed Packets

One of the seed companies has come out with what the garden editor regards as a delightful innovation.

Enclosed within certain packets of seed are directions for arrangements made with the flowers. The packets with directions are designated by a green and gold seal.

Pink julep cornflowers include a mixture of pink and cranberry shades very much in vogue this year. A fabric manufacturer has announced that he plans to come out with pink julep drapery and upholstery fabrics.

So by the time the pink julep cornflowers have been planted and are in flower, matching fabrics may be purchased.

THE COLOR ASSN. of the United States forecasts a good year for pink.

Arrangement instruction will include diagrams as well as directions. Both beginning and advanced arrangers should have fun growing the flowers and creating the artistic bouquets.

PINK JULEP CORNFLOWERS — A seed company this year is marketing a packet of cornflowers which will not include the traditional blue. Since pink is much in vogue this ought to be a favorite with style-conscious gardeners. Each packet of pink julep cornflowers will include directions for making an interesting and beautiful arrangement. Packets with a green and gold seal are the ones that contain arrangement making instructions. These seeds may be found in many local stores.

Daffodil Show In Dayton Due April 18, 19

The 12th annual daffodil show of the Dayton Council of Garden Clubs will be held April 18 and 19 at the Dayton Power and Light Co. Service Building at 1900 South Broadway.

Theme of the show is "In Tune with the Times." The event is open to the public Saturday from 2 p. m. to 9 p. m. and Sunday from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m.

There are 21 classes in the artistic division and 68 in the horticultural division. There will be many educational exhibits.

This is a big city show in which different garden clubs participate. The horticultural display is excellent in itself.

Directions to the Dayton Power and Light Building, are: Approach city on Route 25. Continue on it until it becomes Patterson Blvd. Turn right on Carillon Blvd. (west). Follow Carillon Blvd. to Broadway traffic light, then right again. Park in front of building.

The artistic division is open to members of the Dayton Council. The horticultural division is open to Dayton members of the American Daffodil Society and will be judged by the society's standards.

Several Annuals Can Stand Cold

Most annuals will not germinate anyway until the soil warms up. There are a few, however, that like it cold. Among the cold lovers are those that selfseed in autumn.

Larkspur should be sown early. Cornflowers, poppies (annual) and pansies belong in the same category. And of course sweet peas should be sown in March if at all possible.

Do not delay getting these seeds out. Others like marigolds and zinnias are much better if sown late.

The excess of exports over imports in Gabon grew larger in 1963 than it was in '62. The average per capital annual income, though only $110, is high by African standards.

Is Symbiosis Real Science Or Simply Garden Fancy?

A new and interesting word has appeared on the horizon recently. New to garden editor, that is!

It's to be found in dictionaries new or old. One garden writer explains "symbiosis" as a matter of two different plants growing close together for their mutual benefit.

My dictionary says: "the co-sporting together or partnership of dissimilar organisms."

Gene Hershey, garden writer, suggests planting a few cloves of garlic among the roses. "The primitive vigor of the garlic," she says, "stirs the basic strength of the roses so that they are less susceptible to diseases." This is an example of symbiosis.

AT PRESENT symbiosis is an unexplored field. It is at present more a collection of old wives tales than a true science. It has fascinating possibilities. It could be helpful in eliminating the wide spread use of pesticides and insecticides.

The amateur gardener may well contribute some interesting discoveries. I recollect hearing for instance, that golden rod planted in a rose bed will attract the aphids so that the roses are not bothered at all.

If any of my readers can remember some companion plants thought to be good in gardens, do tell us.

Miss Hershey suggests planting tomatoes near asparagus and she believes that tansy repels insects. Let's experiment with symbiosis. And incidentally if anybody wants some garlic "with its primitive vigor" to plant in a rose bed, I have more than my share.

Dahlias Easy To Grow From Seeds

Dahlias can be successfully grown from seed.

C. H. Bowen of Chillicothe, one of the most enthusiastic of dahlia growers and showmen, brings fabulously beautiful seedling flowers to the Pumpkin Show each fall.

Few people know that dahlias may be raised from seed.

As a matter of fact, according to seedsmen, dahlias are as easily grown as zinnias from seed. Seeds germinate promptly, grow freely and begin to show buds in a few weeks.

THEY LIKE rich soil and a sunny situation. They bloom freely from early summer until frost.

If properly cared for the tubers will last for years. Buy good quality seeds from a reputable firm and see what happens. It may surprise you.

problems. He is an accredited instructor for the National Council of State Garden Clubs and has taught at Flower Show Schools in many cities.

Members of garden clubs and persons interested in gardening, flower growing or flower arrangement are qualified to enroll for the courses, but only students who are members of a garden club belonging to the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc., may take the examinations.

Serving as committee chairman for the school are women belonging to Garden Club of Ohio, Inc., member clubs. They are:

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, April 16, the 107th day of 1964. There are 259 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1789, George Washington left his beloved Mount Vernon for the long journey to New York. He was to be inaugurated as our first president on April 30.

On this date In 1789, the first "All American Play," called "The Conquest," was produced in New York City. The play was written in America by an American and presented with American actors.

In 1862, Napoleon the Third declared war against Juarez in Mexico.

In 1941, steel prices were frozen by the government. In 1944, the Russians recaptured the Crimean port of Yalta.

In 1947, Texas City, Tex., was destroyed in an explosion and fire that killed more than 600 persons.

Ten years ago—New Haven Railroad stockholders elected a slate of directors favorable to railroad expert Patrick McGinnis, giving McGinnis control of the road.

Five years ago—Convicts at the Montana State Prison in Deer Lodge started a riot, seized 23 hostages and held out for 36 hours.

One year ago—International Monetary Fund officials found more than $4½ million missing from the National Bank of Katanga since its secession from the Congo ended in January.

About eight species of anchovy, a fish belonging to the Engraulidae family, are found in American waters.

evident everywhere in the South.

Why? The answer is as complex as the problem, which covers the spectrum of society. And each community has its own set of issues and conditions.

Yet some of the more apparent factors which may abet or deter peaceful change include: — Attitudes of government businesses, churches, integration leaders and segregationists.

— Size and nature of the community, whether urban or rural, industrial or agricultural.

— Percentage of Negroes and their voting power.

— Rate and stage of desegregation.

Much of Georgia's college and university system is desegregated; racial bars have been lowered in private schools, some theaters, restaurants and hotels, lunch counters and libraries in most major cities.

Change has been made easier by the moderate course of Gov. Carl E. Sanders, elected with the help of the Negro vote—about 14 per cent in Georgia.

Desegregation is most difficult in areas of the South where Negroes are a majority of the population.

Eleven school districts in Arkansas are desegregated. Most of them are in Little Rock where federal troops enforced a court decree in 1957.

Little Rock theaters, many downtown lunch counters and restaurants are desegregated. But in the delta area of east Arkansas, where Negroes are heavily concentrated, there are no signs of integration.

In Selma, Ala., where Negroes outnumber white residents, attempts to integrate lunch counters and city facilities have failed. To the North, at Huntsville, where the Negro population is small, a biracial committee is functioning, eight schools and the University Extension Center, public recreational facilities and some motels are desegregated.

Gov. John Connally of Texas said he believed that "The most successful way to integrate is on a voluntary basis." And last summer he worked behind the scenes, meeting with hotel and restaurant owners.

Desegregation has spread to public accommodations in major Texas cities, although east Texas remains largely segregated.

Biracial bargaining, with an attitude of compromise on both sides, has keynoted much of the peaceful desegregation, surveys by The Associated Press have shown.

Contractors OK Labor Pact

Ohio Teamsters
Await Ratification

CLEVELAND (AP)—A wage settlement affecting 18,000 highway and heavy construction workers has been reached between the Ohio Contractors Association and the Ohio Conference of Teamsters.

The settlement, subject to ratification, provides a package increase valued at nearly 55 cents hourly, Louis Triscaro, conference vice president, reported Wednesday. The increases in the three-year contract will provide $18 a week more in pay in the last year of the pact, based on a 40-hour work week, he said.

Ratification meetings have been set for April 28—two days before the old pact runs out. The contract covers workers in all but Cuyahoga, Lake and Geauga counties in Ohio, plus those in five West Virginia and five Kentucky counties.

Included in the proposed contract are 15-cent hourly wage hikes in each of the three years, plus an additional 10 cents hourly in each year for drivers of tractor-trailer units. Increased welfare fund payments also are part of the package.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here is the official U. S. Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Cloudiness increased over Ohio last night and a few light sprinkles of rain fell in the central counties. Early morning temperatures ranged from the 30s in the northeast counties to the low 50s southwest.

At sunrise, Youngstown reported 54 degrees, while Cincinnati was 52.

Southerly winds will bring warmer weather today but also considerable cloudiness. Afternoon temperatures will reach the upper 60s and low 70s today and tonight and Friday also will be warmer.

A few light showers may occur today but no precipitation is expected over most of the state tonight and Friday.

40,000 Jobs Seen By Poverty War Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Automation hasn't yet affected such jobs as service station attendant and mechanic, says Ohio University President Vernon Alden.

On loan to the task force on the war against poverty, Dr. Alden said after a meeting with educators and businessmen Wednesday that 40,000 such jobs are available in the United States.

The Martins sold the lion when complaining neighbors threatened to go to court. King refused to eat after joining the circus, and finally toppled over dead of a ruptured heart.

Views on Television—Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—After two years and more than 60 programs, there are going to be some changes made in CBS "The Nurses."

"We're going into our third year and it's getting tougher all the time," conceded executive producer Herbert Brodtkin. "We've covered a lot of subjects involving women. Now we've got to find a way to enlarge the show's platform and involve more people—mostly men—connected with the hospital."

The "larger platform" will be constructed even before the end of this season. One upcoming show, Brodtkin noted, will be a comedy—about a TV show about nurses.

The producer said that he believes that the television fad for "realistic drama" is just about over.

"CBS Reports" Wednesday night tackled a controversial, complicated subject: The economic, moral and ethical implications raised by recent British and American government reports linking cigarette smoking and disease.

The program traveled carefully and with fairness through all shades of opinion on the subject. The tobacco industry spokesmen had an opportunity to state its position as well as government officials, representatives of broadcasting, advertising, school authorities and students themselves.

The program could not, of course, offer any solution to the problem. But it did serve the purpose of opening up all sides of the controversy in an unemotional atmosphere.

NBC's forthcoming Dennis Weaver comedy series, having been titled "Kentucky's Kid" and "Kentucky," now will be called "Kentucky Jones."

Recommended tonight: "Perry Mason," CBS, 9-10 (Eastern Standard Time)—Peter Breck is guest star as an alcoholic in the long-running courtroom drama.

Self-Reliance Labeled As Need of Railroads

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A railroad executive has told an audience here the industry wants and needs to become self-reliant.

Herbert M. Phillips, vice president and general manager of the western region of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in a speech to the Ohio Shippers' Advisory Board, said "what we want... is the chance..." He termed present regulations "at times wholly unfair."

U.S. Ready To Assist Brazil Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States was reported ready today to provide substantial economic aid to Brazil if President Humberto Castello Branco adopts effective belt-tightening measures.

The United States, and other sources of financial aid, are holding up almost $500 million dollars in assistance to Brazil due to runaway inflation there.

Fiscal reform is regarded in Washington as one of Brazil's most urgent needs.

The United States and other sources held up economic aid last year when now-ousted President Joao Goulart failed to fulfill a pledged economic stabilization program.

Washington withheld $224.5 million for balance of payments support. The International Monetary Fund is believed to have rejected Goulart's request for $100 million last year. European countries and Japan were expected to produce an additional $100 million in aid but a Brazilian mission to Europe failed to get it shortly before Goulart's downfall.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said at his last news conference the United States is ready to work very closely with the new government of Brazil in tackling Brazil's difficult problems of economic and social development.

Pennsy Railroad Delays Plan To Move Shops

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Negotiations in Philadelphia Wednesday resulted in a delay until another meeting there May 4 in any action by the Pennsylvania Railroad or the Transport Workers Union over the PRR's disputed plan to transfer TWU jobs.

Union Local 2005 President Jack Diaz of Columbus said the PRR will hold off on transfer, originally scheduled April 22, of 600 diesel maintenance shop jobs from Columbus and Crestline, Ohio, to Altoona and Conway, Pa. For its part, the union will forego on a strike it has threatened on the entire Pennsy system if the transfers are effected.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—A tax rise boosts prices on the London stock exchange. A tax cut is credited with helping American stock prices hit new highs.

In both cases stock traders are betting on how consumers will react.

The London theory is that Britons will go right on drinking and smoking just as much as before this week's announcement of a 10 per cent hike in taxes on beverages and tobacco. And earlier fears that other industry products would also be hit were allayed.

The American theory is that the federal income tax cut which began showing up last month in larger take-home pay will mean that U.S. consumers will spend lots more for goods and services and that businessmen will step up production and sales competition to get the extra dollars.

But if the British tax increase and the American tax reduction had the same initial effect on stock prices, the motives of the two governments were quite different.

The London government is trying to put a brake on a booming economy that is edging toward inflation and increasing imports. Earlier it had raised interest rates with this same aim in mind.

Circleville Wins SCO League Tilt; Dade Raps Homer

The Circleville High School baseball team solved Hillsboro pitching in the first inning last night and went on to post a 7-5 victory over the visiting Indians.

Big Fred Cluff went the route on the mound for the visitors in spite of a bad first inning in which he gave up two hits and walked four.

Howard Dade tied into Cluff's second pitch and sent it sailing far into leftfield for a homerun. The four-bagger seemed to have its effect on both the Tigers and the Hillsboro hurler.

George Reeser was walked after Dade's homer. He stole second, advanced to third on Dade Bass' sacrifice fly and moved home on a wild pitch.

TOM COPLAND also walked, proceeded to steal second and third and crossed the plate safely on a wild pitch. The bases were loaded when the final out was made for the Tigers.

Again in the fourth Circleville produced three runs on three singles, and a walk.

Dade, the third man up, singled and went to second on an error. Reeser walked and then Cluff's single drove Dade across the plate. Bass cracked a single to centerfield to drive home Reeser and Iery, but was picked off first base to retire the side.

The final Circleville run came when Jeff Ankrom walked, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and then crossed the plate on Dave Greene's sacrifice.

Hillsboro started the game with a double by Kessler. Dixon moved to first on an error. Then Cluff singled to drive in two runs.

The Indians scored single runs in the third, fifth and sixth innings as Reeser effectively scattered seven hits. He walked two in his seven inning stint on the mound, and fanned five.

CLUFF struck out 10 and walked seven. Circleville batters touched him for seven hits.

It was the first league game for the Tigers to give them a 1-0 loop record. Tomorrow the Red and Black team travels to Wilmington for a league tilt.

Teays Valley, Mifflin Play To Deadlock

The Teays Valley High School baseball team battled host team Mifflin Twp. to a 3-3 tie game last night that was called at the end of eight innings because of darkness.

Bill Dore' was the Viking pitcher, fanning six, walking six and hitting two batters in the eight frames. He was touched for two hits.

Bioeren was the hurler for the host team, fanning 14 Vikings and walking five. Teays Valley batters cracked five singles.

In the first inning Mitchell Clay stroked a single with two men on to drive in one run. The other two runs for Teays Valley came on a throwing error in the second inning.

MIFFLIN scored single runs in the fourth, fifth and the seventh innings.

The Vikings have a 2-2-1 record. Monday they travel to Whitehall for a tilt.

Giardello Likes Cleveland Bouts

CLEVELAND (AP)—Middleweight Champion Joey Giardello, who fights Juan (Rocky) Rivero in a non-title 10-rounder at the arena here Friday night, likes to fight in Cleveland.

"I consider Cleveland my town," the 33-year-old Philadelphia scrapper said, "because I won five out of five here—all good wins. In 1959 I beat Dick Tiger here."

The nationally televised (ABC) bout at 10 p. m. (EST) will be Giardello's first time out since he won the crown by decision from Tiger in Atlantic City last Dec. 7.

Youth Baseball Officials Approve Umpire Pay Plan

The Circleville Youth Baseball Program board of directors approved a motion last night to pay the head umpire at each game during the season.

The move was another step by the directors toward improving officiating at games in the program this season.

The growth of the youth baseball movement in Circleville has created problems, according to Bill Thomas, president of the board of directors.

He pointed out there are 33 teams in the program and nearly 500 boys participating. As many as eight games can be played in a single evening. Frequently 30 or more games are played in one week.

OBTAINING qualified umpires is one of the biggest problems faced by Bob Wellington, director of the summer program.

The board feels this problem can at least be alleviated by reimbursing individuals for time spent umpiring. However, Thomas pointed out that only the umpire in chief will be paid.

The program will still have to rely on volunteer officials on the bases. The umpire fee per game has been set at $2 by the board.

The Kiwanis sponsored training school is the other project launched this year to improve officiating.

A total of 16 persons attended the umpire organizational meeting Tuesday night. The second will be held during the month of May, with Steve Brudzinski, Jack McGuire and Mike Brown conducting the sessions.

In other business conducted by the board, another registration session for the Babe Ruth has been scheduled.

ANOTHER 45 boys are needed to fill out teams in the older league. The registration will be held at Circleville High School Wednesday from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., Thomas noted.

Persons interested in managing teams have been requested to contact either Joe Gibbs player agent for the Babe Ruth Leagues, or Roy Farmer, player agent for the Little Leagues.

Fund raising programs also came up for discussion by the board. They included the candy sale scheduled June 6 and a solicitation drive.

$2 Hunch Bet Yields $63,721

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A 50-year-old Miami man invested $2 in a hunch bet on the twin double at Gulfstream Park and collected $63,721 Wednesday.

Vincent Palmisano, a former public relations man, took his winnings home in cash.

"With me opening a restaurant next week, this money sure came at an opportune time," he said.

He said he found the winning numbers on a piece of paper on the floor of the restaurant he plans to take over. He said he had no idea what the numbers—3, 7, 8, 1—represented but decided to get them.

Rodgers Sparkles In Houston Tuneup

HOUSTON (AP)—Jack Nicklaus was the popular choice as the $50,000 Houston Golf Classic opened today but Phil Rodgers has looked sharp during practice rounds.

Rodgers, former University of Houston star, fired a three-under-par 68 during final practice Wednesday over the 7,223-yard par 35-36-71 Sharpstown Country Club course, where the Classic is being held for the first time.

Nicklaus, who finished second in the Masters with Dave Marr last Sunday, drew 3-1 odds as the Classic favorite.

Rodgers' 68 was the low score of the day in the pro-amateur and he picked up $250 in prize money for it.

Indians To Host Kansas City '9'

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians will play the Kansas City Athletics here Friday night in their first night game of the new baseball season.

It will be the first game for both teams since they were beaten in their season openers Tuesday—Cleveland dropping a 7-6 decision to the Minnesota Twins here and the Athletics losing to the Detroit Tigers, 7-3, in Detroit.

Soutnpaw Jack Kralick is acting manager George Strickland's choice to pitch for the Indians. He is expected to be opposed by Diego Segui, a right-hander who had a 9-6 record last year. Kralick won 14 games and lost 13 in 1963.

The New York Yankees won 58 and lost 22 games at Yankee Stadium in 1963 en route to the American League pennant.

Russians Build Motels, Have Few Automobiles

MOSCOW (AP)—In the United States, the motel followed the development of travel by private automobile. In the Soviet Union, the motel came first.

Two have been opened on the highway that encircles Moscow, just beyond the point at which prefabricated apartment houses are turning rolling farmland into suburbs. More motels are planned.

They aren't exactly motels as you Americans know them. Vehicles go into a parking lot and the customers walk through the lobby and upstairs to their rooms.

The Russians have taken the American word "motel" and put it on combinations of hotel, service station and garage.

There are few private cars in the Soviet Union, and not many roads to travel. Trucks are the main highway users. Their drivers get special consideration in reservations at the motel.

Perhaps some day the present trickle of foreign visitors by automobile will swell enough to provide tourist business. At the moment the two motels are primarily used as annexes of Moscow's crowded downtown hotels.

The motels don't even have names except as affiliates of their downtown connections. But Gregori Suvorov says the motel he manages will some day be independent—"Then we'll have a name of our own." It is now known as the Motel on the Minsk Highway.

By the standard of many places where foreign travelers find themselves sleeping in the Soviet Union, such as airport hotels, this is a good place to stop.

Each of 95 rooms has a bathroom, which is an uncommon situation outside a few large Soviet cities. Large windows, bright pictures on the walls and rugs on the floors made the rooms attractive.

Cleveland Segregation Tied to Housing Policy

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland would "not be an armed camp" today if a fair housing ordinance had been adopted some years ago, according to Ellsworth H. Harpole, executive director of the Community Relations Board.

Cleveland, according to studies by housing experts, is one of the most segregated communities in the nation, Harpole told two city council committees Wednesday at a hearing on a proposed fair housing ordinance.

"A barrier has been built around the city to create a ghetto situation in housing for minority groups," Harpole said. "This can be blamed on the lending institutions and board of realtors."

Charles V. Carr, Negro majority leader and a Democrat, introduced the legislation 18 months ago. The ordinance, similar to one Council defeated in 1960, would outlaw discrimination in the sale or rental of property by anyone owning or controlling four or more dwelling units. Lending institutions and real estate dealers also would be affected.

An audience consisting of Negroes and whites filled the committee room for the 2½-hour debate, mainly by Harpole and councilmen. Among the spectators were William F. Miller of Cincinnati, president of the National Association for the Advancement of White People (NAAWP), and John S. Barbic, president of the Cleveland NAAWP chapter.

Harpole said there had been housing complaints to the board since 1945. "There have been instances of discrimination in housing for Negroes and Puerto Ricans here, and although it is not illegal, the board believes it is morally illegal," Harpole said.

Councilman Lawrence W. Duggan, a Democrat, said the ordinance was not needed since Harpole's board had reported on six housing complaints in its 1963 report.

Harpole replied that there would have been more if it were not for the general climate of Cleveland on race matters.

Hoffa, Baker Senate Cafe Meals Bared

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said today that James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union ran up a bill of $4,248.93 in the Senate restaurant last year for luncheons. He said he was advised the bill was paid four or five months after the luncheons.

In a Senate speech, Williams also said that the chef and other restaurant personnel were sent to assist in the 1962 grand opening of Bobby Baker's Carousel Motel and carried with them food, table linens, cooking utensils and other items. The plush Ocean City, Md., motel was promoted by Baker, who at the time was secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Nothing appears on the restaurant's books, Williams said, adding that the only explanation he could think of was "that this service was either rendered free, at government expense, or at a very low rate which they do not wish to reveal."

The Senate Rules Committee, which has jurisdiction over the restaurant, recently has investigated how Baker built up a fortune he placed at upwards of $2 million while on the Senate payroll at $19,600 a year.

Oxford Mother Slated For Mental Exams

Mrs. Silverstein is charged with first degree murder in the death of her four-year-old son Lee, who was found drowned in the bathtub of their home April 8.

Boy Sets Barn Fire To Win $25 Reward

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—A barn containing a house trailer, farm machinery and other items burned down and part of Bellbrook lost telephone service for two hours—all because a boy, 10, wanted to win $25 for a news tip.

The youngster told Greene County sheriff's officers he set the fire in grass near the barn so he could call a Dayton radio station with news of the blaze. It did $15,000 damage. The boy's punishment is up to juvenile authorities.
